Dear Sir:-

On Saturday September 11th, 1926. I located and interviewed James (Slimmy) Grafton as to conditions and frequenters of Gilliland's Road House. Grafton is at present conducting a saloon at 389 Market Street, Newark, N. J. He informed me that he was formerly in the saloon business at the corner of French and James Street, New Brunswick, N.J. but has been out of that city for thirty-five years. He knew of Gilliland's place while in New Brunswick and said that occasionally he would drop in there for a drink. However he claims not to know any of the girls or fellows who "hung out" there.

Thomas Manley, a garage keeper at Lincoln Highway, Franklin Park, N. J. informed me on Saturday last, that his brother William (Bill) Manley is at present residing at 333 South 12th Street, Newark, N.J.

Respectfully yours,
David Thompson.
